

BLOG 26th March 2009 : Written by Jon Clapp

Jerry has handed over the reins to me for this month's blog, as he makes his way north to Durham to help his son with a few house related jobs....so here goes !

Simon has completed a further transformation of his van in preparation for it's impending sale. It now sports a dark grey paint job along with completed 3 clock centre binnacle dash and carpeted rear and from the mobile phone pictures he was sporting it had a definite "rat look" cool to it ! Suggestions were made to post some listings on some of the mini forums as a cheap (read : FREE) advertisement.

theminiforum.co.uk

and minifinity.com

Simon Snow has been busy modifying the WMW 50 years of Mini logo into a rather nice Red, White and Blue internal window sticker ! Available on the night in 2 sizes – large and small(er) very good they looked too !

"reflective" internal window stickers are still underway.....I am hoping to have these for the next meet.

Doug recently enjoyed a leisurely walk up Snowdon and was giving tips on mountain survival ! He did admit that once the ordeal was over and the pub beckoned the first beer to be had was "probably the best beer in the world !". It is nice however to see that he got down safely....otherwise who would look after all of those accumulated mini's and engines (form an orderly queue....)

Neil still hasn't got his van back to his liking from Jonspeed yet, with continual teething problems. It appears to be the brakes this time.....Hopefully this will be sorted by next meeting as I for one am keen to see it.

WMW 50 Years of Mini T-Shirts were distributed to those that had placed an order....hopefully we will see this present on future runs and shows to present some good photo opportunities (hint hint). Anyone that missed out and is still interested let me know. Long Sleeve (£15) and Short Sleeve (£12.50) versions are available.

Social Bit

Next Meeting 30th April : Belvoir Castle, be at the Midland 7.20pm for depart @ 7.30pm.

Melton posse to meet en-route at Wilton Road car park opposite the Kettleby Cross @ 8pm.

That all from me, and next month normal service will resume with Jerry firmly back at the helm of the blog !

See you next meet.....